GDF SUEZ TO HOST EUROPEAN AUTUMN GAS CONFERENCE IN 2011

GDF Suez, the largest buyer of natural gas in the world, has announced it will play host to the 26th European Autumn Gas Conference to be held in Paris on 15-16 November 2011. Part of the Gastech series of events, EAGC, is the longest running annual gas conference in Europe.

“We are happy to be host sponsor of the European Autumn Gas Conference in Paris this year, says Jean-Marie Dauger, Executive Vice President GDF SUEZ.

GDF SUEZ developed one of the most diversified gas supply portfolio in the world, combined with a renewed and balanced LNG component; to ensure security of supply and to open new perspectives to high growth markets. We are confident in the prospects of natural gas, which is and will remain an essential part of the GDF SUEZ energy mix.

EAGC has proven to be an ideal platform to share our experiences and views on the future of the gas market. 2011 EAGC has the same ambition and we look forward to welcoming you as ours guests.”

“As demand for natural gas continues to rise on a global level, we are delighted to be supported by one of the largest international players in the market” says Jason Franks, Executive Vice President, dmgt::events (UK) Ltd, organisers of EAGC.

He continues “GDF SUEZ’s expertise in natural gas and LNG will undoubtedly enable us to create yet another fantastic conference. Furthermore, Paris has been ranked as one of the Financial Times’ top three ‘European Cities of the future’ and will provide an easily accessible venue for speakers and delegates and offers excellent facilities to ensure a high level of networking throughout the event. We look forward to working with GDF SUEZ and to a highly successful 2011 conference in Paris.”

In 2010, the 25th EAGC was held in Berlin and attended by the gas industries most influential leaders and over 430 delegates from 26 countries. Further information is available at www.theeagc.com
